

HANLY NOMINEE OF DRY COVENTION

LANDRETH OF TENNESSEE IS NAMED FOR VICE PRESIDENT BY PROHIBITIONISTS.

CLOSED UP WITH DOXOLOGY

Platform Adopted as Recommended by Committee, Except Initiative, Referendum and Recall Planks Are Inserted.

St. Paul, Minn.—J. Frank Hanly, former governor of Indiana, was nominated for president of the United States on the Prohibition ticket and Rev. Ira D. Landreth of Nashville, Tenn., was named for the vice presidency at the concluding session of the party's national convention.

Mr. Hanly's nomination came on the first ballot and followed a number of hurried conferences between advocates of the candidacy of William Sulzer, former governor of New York, and several brief demonstrations in the latter's behalf, which, however, were offset by the outburst of enthusiasm that followed every mention of Hanly's name.

The vote for Hanly was decisive. He received 440 votes as against 181 for Sulzer. Finley C. Hendrickson of Cumberland, Md., received 51 votes; James Gilbert Mason of New Jersey, 10; W. P. Ferguson of Pennsylvania, 4; Sumner W. Haynes of Indiana, 2, and Henry Ford of Detroit, 1.

A motion to make Mr. Hanly's nomination unanimous was defeated when objections were offered by Eugene W. Chaffin of Arizona, Charles J. Hall of California and a score of other delegates.

Dr. Landreth was nominated unanimously by a rising vote after all other candidates for the vice presidency, among them Mr. Hendrickson, had withdrawn.

After the nomination of Dr. Landreth the assembly again sang the doxology and ended a six-hour session marking the close of the three-day convention.

The party platform, with only one change in the draft presented by the resolutions committee—the insertion of a plan declaring in favor of the initiative, referendum and recall—was adopted early in the session.

ELLIS ISLAND INVESTIGATION

Changes Suggested But No Evidence Is Found of Immorality as Alleged by Statesman.

New York, N. Y.—Several changes in administrative policy designed to improve conditions at the immigration station on Ellis Island were put into effect by John R. Dennis, acting secretary of labor, after an inspection that he made with Representative Isaac Seigel, a member of the committee on immigration of the house of representatives. The investigation resulted from criticism made by Representative William S. Bennett against Commissioner of Immigration Frederick C. Howe. Bennett alleged that immoral conditions prevailed at Ellis Island.

"We found no actual grounds for charges of immorality," said Representative Seigel. "As to the charge that immoral women were permitted to enter the country under bond, the responsibility for that can not be put up to Commissioner Howe. If there has been any such action the blame attaches to Washington authorities."

CURE FOR INFANT DISEASE PEACE CAMPAIGN IS BEGUN

SPINAL INJECTIONS EFFECTIVE IN 41 CASES.

New Cases Show Decrease. But Deaths From Scourge Continue to Make Gains.

New York—What everyone concerned in the fight in the infantile paralysis epidemic concedes to be the best news received by the board of health since the outbreak of the disease was contained in a report made by Dr. Edward J. Berningham, executive surgeon of the New York Throat, Nose and Lung hospital, where the adrenalectomy treatment advocated by Dr. J. S. Meitzer of the Rockefeller Institute, has been tried consistently on all patients for the last week.

Dr. Berningham says that the forty-one patients under his observation are improving, some in a remarkable degree, even to the disappearance of the paralysis.

Beginning with an injection of one-fifth of a cubic centimeter, the injections were cautiously increased to two cubic centimeters with no bad results and in many cases with the most remarkable improvement in all the symptoms and the partial or complete disappearance of the paralysis.

A further decrease in the number of new cases and a slight increase in the number of deaths was shown in the health department's bulletin. During the last 24 hours 32 children died of the disease in the greater city and 50 new cases were reported. The total deaths to date are 519 and total cases 1,525. There are 1,260 cases under treatment in hospitals.

WANT COMPLETE PROHIBITION

British Make Demand on Parliament—Alcohol Consumption Hampers War Work.

London, England—There is accumulating evidence that the consumption of alcohol, despite the efforts of the board of liquor control, has diminished but little, if at all, and that it is still seriously affecting national efficiency, both in war work and other vital industries.

As a result there has been formed the "strength of Britain" movement, which was organized by business men who heretofore have not been connected with temperance work. They will soon present to parliament a memorial demanding a suspension of the liquor traffic during the war on the ground of national duty to Great Britain's allies, to the army and the fleet and to conserving the strength of the nation for present dangers and future needs. The signatories to the memorial include leading citizens in all parts of the country.

HIGH GRADE GERMANS SEEK HONORABLE CONCLUSION.

National Committee Calls on Von Holweg to Support Compromise Movement.

Berlin, Germany—"The German National Committee for Securing an Honorable Peace" has drafted an address to the country which will be published within a few days calling for the support of Chancellor von Bethman-Hollweg and the influencing of public opinion in the direction of moderate peace aims.

The signatures attached to the address indicate the importance of the movement. They include Prince von Wedel, general adjutant to the emperor; Philip Heineken, director of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company; Paul von Schwanbach, director of the Bleichroder bank; Prof. Adolph Harnack and many important manufacturers, merchants, professors and others.

The address outlines the aims of the committee, steering a course between the pacifists and the insatiable plans of the pan-Germans, which it characterizes as "annexation lunacy." It emphasizes the fact that the controversy of the last few weeks between the peace advocates and the annexationists has had a harmful effect and that therefore it is now necessary for the moderates to organize and create uniform views concerning a basis of peace.

CARRANZA SILENT; PRESIDENT SORE

ARREDONDO AND POLK CONTINUE TO HOLD CONFERENCES.

WILSON TO MEET DEMANDS

Evidence of U. S. Good Intentions Shown by Pershing's Gradual Approach to Border—Another Angle to the Quarrel.

Washington—Definite decision upon the proposed commission plan of settling the difficulties between this country and Mexico is expected this week.

Acting Secretary of State Polk is expected to hold daily conferences with Eliseo Arredondo, ambassador designate of the de facto government, until some conclusion is reached.

Grave apprehension was expressed about the outcome of these conferences. In marked contrast to the optimism last week, it was stated that the negotiations were practically at a standstill for lack of any reply from the city of Mexico in regard to substitute proposals informally suggested by this government regarding the scope of the issues to be determined through the commission.

A principal snag is understood to be the insistence of Carranza that the commission shall discuss the matter of Gen. Pershing's withdrawal from Mexico. The position of the United States is that the army was sent into Mexico for military purposes, and that its withdrawal is up to the president and not a matter to be settled by negotiators of the two governments.

The indication of this government to meet, so far as possible, the Carranza suggestions in this regard has been pointed out, it is understood, in the conferences at the state department.

Arredondo has been told that the withdrawal of the American forces at least 200 miles from the point reached by Gen. Pershing's advance guard in the hunt for Villa, shows that the United States desires to go no farther into Mexico than is necessary to accomplish the purposes of the expedition.

It is admitted by officials that the activities of the bandits about Carranza form a subject of consideration by the commission if one was decided upon. It is said that such operations would have no effect upon the negotiations looking to a commission, as Villa is recognized as a bandit, and this government has tacitly accepted Carranza's statement that his supported activity has nothing to do with the de facto government.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY DIES

Hoosier Poet, Stricken With Paralysis, Passes Away—Laureate of the Children.

Indianapolis, Ind.—James Whitcomb Riley died last Saturday night at 10:50 o'clock while his nurse was awake in the poet's home. He had asked for a drink of water and reclined on his bed again. Miss Clementia Prough, his nurse, resumed her vigil, and noticing that the poet seemed not to be resting easily, approached his bed. Mr. Riley died before she reached his side.

Mr. Riley's death was due to paralysis. He suffered a violent stroke earlier in the day, and the members of his household were greatly alarmed, but under Dr. Carlenton B. McCulloch's ministrations the poet seemed to improve and was regarded as much better.

Relatives of Mr. Riley were summoned immediately. They are his brother-in-law Henry Eitel, a nephew, Edmund H. Eitel, and a niece, Miss Elizabeth Eitel.

Mr. Riley's work in poetry will live forever, as he had no rival in the peculiar field he claimed as his own. He was particularly at his best in child verse.

SHOW HUGHES UNFIT

Democrats Uncover Records of His Public Career.

Figures as Shrewd, Able Defender of Big Financial Interests—Declared Ideal Candidate of the Money Barons.

Charles Evans Hughes will be shown in the campaign as the shrewd and able defender of the financial interests, a corporation-minded man who is able to disguise in high-sounding phrases his lack of sympathy for the plight of the average citizen who has insufficient wealth to defend his rights against big business, according to a dispatch from New York.

His record as governor of New York and his other acts in public life are being examined by eastern Democrats who are close to the sources of information, and it is declared that facts will be brought into the campaign showing him the ideal candidate of the money barons, sincere in his support of protection for the financial interests, but out of sympathy with the great mass of the American people.

A charge that he stirred up an academic conflict over race-track gambling while governor of New York in order to distract attention from the affairs of his administration will be raised. Edwin S. Harris, chairman of the New York Democratic state committee, disclosed the line of attack that is to be made upon the Republican nominee at a meeting of the newly-formed Young Democratic club of Brooklyn.

In his discussion Chairman Harris declared that Hughes was not nominated at the Chicago convention, but at a meeting last winter of the leading powers in the business world, "whose profits were taken away by the Underwood tariff law and who look upon the enactment of federal trade and commerce laws as a personal attack upon themselves."

"Man, the human being, has no place in the thoughts of Mr. Hughes," declared Mr. Harris. "He is a defender of property rights, as his veto of the lower gas rate bill and his disapproval of the income tax show. The Republicans hope to win by dividing the country and devising the rank and file. Hughes is an adroit, shrewd, resourceful politician and a campaigner of unusual ability who can put more feeling and force into a sentence that doesn't mean anything than any other man in public life. But he was a lamentable failure as a governor."

"It was the Hughes administration that made the blunder of putting $30,000,000 in the sinking fund," Chairman Harris continued. "It was the Hughes administration that was responsible for the unworkable plans for the large canal; for the expenditure of a huge surplus in the state treasury, and for increasing the state pay roll $8,000,000."

Aggressive Campaign Promised.

Contrary to reports, the Democratic organization will make an aggressive campaign in a number of Republican States. Plans are under way for a vigorous campaign in Maine, under the direction of Homer S. Cummings, national committeeman for Connecticut, who is vice chairman of the committee. Vance McCormick, the new chairman of the national committee, declared that any reports that the Democrats were going to avoid Republican States were unauthorized. He said emphatically that the Democrats were going to carry the fight into all states that might be classed as in any way doubtful, and the Democratic chieftains look upon Maine—once regarded as a rock-ribbed Republican state—as exceedingly doubtful territory for the Republicans.

Republican "Patriotism."

Great grief is expressed in Republican circles over the treachery of the Democratic house in including in the new revenue bill protective duties on dyestuffs. This is a tariff principle to which the Republicans are sworn, and they would rather see the rising dye industry sacrificed and be able to make political capital of the Democrats' failure to save it from destruction after the war. Any pretext is good enough for partisan fault-finding. The Democrats are to be damned if they do something and damned if they do not.

The Artful Dodger.

There was an air of proud distinction about the tall, erect, well-built southern cracker as he stood before Judge Briggs, felt hat in hand and generous grin tucked away in one corner of his expansive mouth. "This man, your honor," explained the officer who made the arrest, "is a suspicious character. We found him hiding along Decatur street, first in one alley and then in another. Why, would you believe it, your honor, when I finally got him he was hiding under a stack of dirty clothes in a hand laundry."

"What have you to say for yourself, Peter Cooper Higgs?" demanded the judge. "What were you hiding from—the court must know!"

Everybody in the big room leaned forward to catch the stern faced cracker's answer. They were prepared for some sort of childish plot.

"Ma wife was after me for pay for 'th' rent," was the prisoner's calm response.—Coke and Comment
